Faculty Senate Minutes of the January 22, 2002 Meeting

Present: M. Allen, P. Brazina, D. Cichowicz, S. DeTurk, D. George, E. Giardino, M. Kerlin, S. Leibiger, L. Miller, R. Mshomba, M. Moreau, J. Pastis, M. Smith, S. Smith, T. Straub, J. Welsh

Excused: M. Bednar, D. Robison, J. Volpe, A. Walsh

Guests: Joan Frizzell

Meeting called to order at 12:35 pm.

The minutes of the December 10, 2001 meeting were approved.

Jeannie Welsh, the chair of the Senate Financial Affairs Committee, reported on the committee's recent meetings with the Financial Affairs Planning Committee of the University (a meeting chaired by University President, Br. Michael McGinniss). It was reported that at the outset of that meeting, Br. McGinniss outlined as the context for discussion the continuing budget deficit at the University and his charge to balance the budget over the next three years and indicated that his proposal for a 3% salary increase in 2002-03 was motivated by that context (the 3% raise just covers the increase in CPI). Other factors cited by Br. McGinniss in his decision on the amount of the raise are the request for 6 new full-time, non-tenure track hires for faculty to teach in the core curriculum and the current economic climate which has an impact on fundraising initiatives and endowment performance. Other issues discussed during this meeting were the recommendation that the University offer a flexible spending plan as part of employee benefits, the recommended change to post-retirement benefits, and the change in tuition benefits for dependents of employees (for more information on these issues, see the minutes of the December 10 Faculty Senate meeting).

Reporting for the Financial Affairs Committee, Jeannie Welsh (JW) reported that a salary increase of 3% had been proposed for the 2002-03 academic year and moved that the Senate approve the recommended 3% increase as a flat percentage (movement of the scale) increase for everyone. A discussion of this recommendation followed, with the following issues and questions commanding the attention of the Senate:

- Are the benchmark comparisons of faculty salaries provided by the University accurate? JW responded that there was no independent analysis by FAP this year.
- Does the prediction of graduate enrollments (the inaccuracy of which has contributed to the budget shortfall) take into account the current "baby bust" generation as a contributing factor? JW responded that a variety of factors are used in creating those enrollment projections, but couldn't comment on the specifics.
- A senator suggested that it would be helpful for the faculty to have a clearer idea of patterns of University spending – for example, which areas of the University are expanding and in need of increased funds. JW responded that a lack of clear knowledge about the specific budgeting for departments and programs has been a continual source of frustration for the committee; they only see the incremental changes (new money requested by departments and programs).
- There was a question about whether the Faculty Senate would have a chance to vote on the proposed changes to the post-retirement benefits and/or the changes in the tuition benefit. JW responded that the issues were discussed by FAP. The issue regarding eligibility for dependent tuition relates to requirements in the tax code and there is no option for negotiation on the matter; the issue of a change to post-retirement benefits has already come before University Council for a vote and has been approved by that body.

Faculty Senate

- Page 2 -

There was a lengthy discussion about the issue of whether the Senate should vote to approve the 3% raise. Some items of concern for Senators included:

- Does approval of the raise by the Senate give faculty the impression that we negotiated the amount?
- When the issue of a gap between LSU salaries and those of faculty at the benchmark schools first came up (years ago) there was discussion of what faculty would have to do to get salaries back on track (e.g., increase class sizes, work on recruitment of new students). We have done many of those things, so why are we still being told that there can be no significant increase in salary?
- There were questions about whether there is an IOU for faculty in terms of salaries (given the compression of salaries since 1993). JW responded that the President has stated that there is not an IOU in the sense that faculty would be retroactively compensated for the wages lost in the years when compensation increases did not keep up with the benchmark.

It was agreed that the Executive Committee and the members of FAC will draft a motion on the issue of the proposed raise and that the motion would be brought to the February meeting of the Senate. There was a motion to table discussion of the issue until the next meeting and the motion was approved (15-0-1).

The Senate President requested volunteers to form an Election Committee for the 2002 Senate elections. Jackie Pastis, as Senate Vice-President will chair the committee and David George, Stuart Leibiger, and Lynn Miller volunteered to assist her.

An appointment was made to the Academic Affairs committee.

The meeting was adjourned at 2:00 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Sabrina DeTurk

Minutes of the Curriculum Committee Meeting Thursday December 13, 2001

Members Present: J. Cicala, S. DeTurk, E. Giardino, M. McManus, M. Moreau, R. Nigro (chair), A. O'Connor, M. Soven, W. Weaver, J. Welsh, S. Wiley, Z. Wolf

Guest: F. Hornum

The meeting was called to order at 12:35 pm

After short discussion the minutes of the meeting of November 20, 2001 were approved with minor changes (9-0-1).

Guidelines for Understanding At Home and Understanding Abroad Independent Projects were distributed. At this time the committee is only considering this item for discussion. Several other items were also distributed to aid with the discussion. They were:

- Mini version of the guidelines from the faculty handbook for the Core Curriculum
- List of courses, by number, approved as satisfying the Understanding At Home or Understanding Abroad requirements
- Original guidelines on this topic as prepared by the Core Curriculum Design Committee

The projects being discussed are not projects to be done as part of a course but rather ones to be done outside of courses. It has been decided that there will not be lasallian points as originally proposed but that there would be some indication on the student transcript that the student had satisfied the Understanding At Home and Understanding Abroad requirements.

These requirements can be met by taking certain regular courses. In the 2001-2002 Academic Bulletin these courses are marked with an icon in the form of a house or an airplane. Finn Hornum described how courses had been selected to satisfy these requirements. They were originally proposed by department chairs and then reviewed by the Core Curriculum Advisory panel. There was a question concerning the absence of any courses from the School of Nursing on the list of approved courses.

The discussion moved to the project guidelines document. This document was primarily intended for use by faculty and others who might be asked to guide a student who was involved in such a project. The group does not believe that there will be large number of students who will be requesting approval for such projects but believes the University needs guidelines so that this type of project can be made available to the students.

There was a discussion of the place of Experiential Education and Service Learning at La Salle. If we believe that there is value in this type of learning should we be doing more to encourage this type of activity? Should we be trying to use this as one of the characteristic of a La Salle education. It could become a point of distinctiveness for us. We could build on the lasallian characteristic of serving the underserved.

Some of the points raised during the discussion of the project guidelines document included:

- We should be careful not to set guidelines that will make future options impossible
- Practical and financial considerations had lead the original curriculum design committee to look for ways that these requirements could be met within a course.
- Such projects would be co-curricular not extra-curricular
- Guidelines for the amount of time involved in such a project may be difficult to determine but probably should be set in order to standardize things.

It was suggested that students be brought in to these discussions in order to get a better understanding of the types of projects that might interest them. It was pointed out that students were part of the original curriculum design committee but it was agreed that additional student input at this time would be beneficial.

The document will be further discussed by the core curriculum advisory panel. It will also be reviewed by the Arts and Sciences Curriculum Committee. It will then be returned to this committee for further consideration and approval.

The meeting adjourned at approximately 2:00 pm

Respectfully submitted

HEALTH ADVISORY COMMITTEE MEETING
February 27, 2002

Present: Lane Neubauer (Co-Chair), Dina Oleksiak (Co-Chair), Michael Imperato, Janice Beitz, Mary Ellen Wydan, Chris Mickels, Eileen McGowan, RSM

Absent: Alexis Karras, Danielle Landwher, Leah Wheeler, Bonni Zetick, Nicholas Angerosa, Scott Tjarian

I. Olney Hall Air Quality:

- A. Dina Oleksiak summarized the meeting that she and Lane Neubauer had with Joe Moore and Jim Behr from Physical Plant concerning the issues related to air quality in Olney Hall that were raised during the January 30th HAC meeting. Included as an addendum at the end of these minutes is a summary of this meeting.
- B. Mike Lopacki has been out of town. Joe Moore and Jim Behr will be sharing the concerns with Mike Lopacki upon his return for his response about the feasibility to do air quality testing in Olney.

II. Smoking Survey

- A. The results of the smoking survey have not yet been completely tabulated.
- B. Thanks to several volunteers from the Health Advisory Committee, PEER Educators and Students' Government Association, the survey was administered in the Food Court and Blue and Gold over a two day period. It is estimated that approximately 500 – 600 surveys were filled out; however this is just an estimate and the final count won't be know until the surveys are tabulated by Food Services.
- C. Since Scott Tjarian was out sick at this meeting, further information about when to expect the results is unknown at this point.

III. AOD CORE survey

- A. Again, with the help of a wonderful cross section of volunteers of Student Affairs staff, Faculty members, Health Advisory Committee members, PEER Educators, Sorority sisters and other supportive individuals, the AOD CORE survey was administered in 31 classes to approximately 600 students which accounts for approximately 22% of the undergraduate day students.
- B. Completed surveys have been sent out for data to be compiled; A summary will be disseminated to the University Community when the compiled data is returned.

IV. Health Fair

- A. Lane Neubauer (co-chair of the Health Fair) gave an overview of what has been lined up. Approximately 15 vendors have confirmed their participation in the fair. A cross section of traditional and alternative approaches to wellness will be covered. Demonstrations from the Cheerleaders, Dance Club, SAVE group ( self defense) and Karate club will be part of this year's fair.
- B. Mike Imperato is taking care of advertising (Pat Greenleaf has designed this year's poster and logo). Dina Oleksiak reported on the vendors she has been in touch with. Janice Beitz and Bonni Zetick have already come up with 20 creative baskets of goodies for door prizes. Bonni Zetick has created an evaluation form for the Fair; Sister Eileen McGowan will make a box for the completed evaluations to be used in the raffles for the door prizes.
- C. Everyone at the meeting signed up to help with either set up, monitoring the Fair or clean up. Missing HAC members will be contacted to solicit their help to cover the gaps in the schedule.

V. Automated External Defibrillator (AED)

- A. Both the Safety and Security Committee and the Health Advisory Committee recommend the purchase of an AED. The question becomes who's responsibility is it to fund the purchase and the training (which would include OSHA regulations about handling blood and body fluids).
- B. The committee was in agreement that this is not a 'student' issue but rather a staff issue ( i.e. human resources, safety and security, etc.) so is unsure what the next step should be in moving this issue forward.

V. Meningococcal Meningitis Vaccine

- A. Dina explained the rationale behind including the Meningococcal Meningitis Vaccine as one of the required vaccinations for the incoming Freshmen class. The HAC was in agreement to move this recommendation forward for approval.

VII Meeting was adjourned at 4:00 p.m.

Respectfully submitted by Lane B. Neubauer Ph.D.
Co-chair Health Advisory Committee

ADDENDUM

Minutes from the meeting about Olney Hall Air quality
February 15, 2002

Present: Dina Oleksiak, Lane B. Neubauer, Jim Behr, Joe Moore

A representative of the Faculty Senate brought complaints of poor air quality in Olney Hall to the attention of the Health Advisory Committee.. As a result a meeting was held between Jim Behr and Joe Moore of Physical Facilities and Lane Neubauer and Dina Oleksiak, co-chairs of the Health Advisory Committee. The following suggestions were made:

- if the temperature is uncomfortable in the classroom, the faculty should first try to adjust the thermostat appropriately. All the classrooms now have individual thermostats in them.
- if the temperature is uncomfortable in the offices of Olney, the controls should be adjusted on the fan coil unit; the fan switch should never be turned off as the air will not be allowed to circulate freely; adjust the thermostat up or down, as appropriate for the desired temperature. The fan should be left running. The majority of offices have controls for temperature in them.
- a suggestion was made that written directions be mounted by the thermostat and fan coil units explaining correct use of the units.
- if the above fails to control the situation, then Physical Facilities should be called at x1315.

There was a question raised as to when the vents are cleaned. Physical Facilities reports that the air handler units have pre-filters and are routinely changed every three months and final bag filters which are similar to HEPA filters, are changed every nine to twelve months.

In reference to air exchange in Olney Hall- federal guidelines suggest the normal air exchange to be at least 10%; LaSalle air exchanges are 15% of outside air in the winter and summer months and up to 40% in spring and fall months.

Joe Moore and Jim Behr will check with Michael Lopacki, Director of Physical Facilities, re: the feasibility of air quality testing in Olney Hall and get back to the Health Advisory Committee.

Respectfully submitted by Dina Oleksiak

EMPIRICALLY SUPPORTED TREATMENT
The Need to Justify Your Approach to Working With Clients

Frank L. Gardner, Ph.D.
Director Psy.D. Program in Clinical Psychology

Dr. Frank Gardner earned his Ph.D. in School-Community Psychology from Hofstra University. He holds the position of team psychologist for a number of professional sports teams. Dr. Gardner is the former Program Director of the Sport-Exercise Psychology Program at the Arizona School of Professional Psychology and he currently works as a consultant with North Shore Hospital in New York. Much of Dr. Gardner's work has included the areas of performance enhancement and dysfunction, consultation in professional sports and business, and psychological assessment and team building in business and industry.

Fueled by both its own empirical tradition and pressures from managed care, organized psychology has begun the arduous process of defining best practices in the treatment of a wide range of disorders across the lifespan. This presentation will detail the history of the evidence-based movement in psychology with particular emphasis on the work of the APA, Division 12 (Clinical Psychology) Task Force on the Development and Dissemination of Empirically Supported Psychological Treatments. An overview of the current EST list and its implications for education, training, and supervision of psychologists-in-training will be discussed. In addition, the implications for the EST movement for ethical clinical practice, risk management for psychologists, and future psychotherapy research will be discussed in depth.
